Use, in time, the most worthy of all cough remedies, Dr. Bull's Cough Syrup Quick relief; soothing of congested bronchial tubes and lungs; control of cough; and, finally, no cough will be the reward. It is the true cough-and-cold doctor."

Analysis by the Bureau of Chemistry of this department of a sample of the article showed that it consisted essentially of ammonium chloride, extracts of plant drugs including ipecac, alcohol, sugar and water.

Misbranding of the article was alleged in the libel for the reason that the above quoted statements borne on the bottle containing the said article, regarding its curative and therapeutic effects, were false and fraudulent, since the said article did not contain any ingredient or combination of ingredients capable of producing the effects claimed.

On October 13, 1926, W. Stram McCurley, trustee of the estate of A. C. Meyer, trading as A. C. Meyer & Co., claimant, having admitted the allegations of the libel and having consented to the entry of a decree, judgment of condemnation and forfeiture was entered, and it was ordered by the court that the product be released to the said claimant upon payment of the costs of the proceedings and the execution of a bond in the sum of $250, conditioned in part that it be relabeled under the supervision of this department.
