

of the United States for said district a libel praying the seizure and condemnation of 201 pounds of blue cohosh, remaining in the original packages at Baltimore, Md., consigned on or about October 11, 1922, alleging that the article had been shipped by Arthur Stallman & Co., from New York, N. Y., and transported from the State of New York into the State of Maryland, and charging adulteration and misbranding in violation of the Food and Drugs Act. The article was labeled in part: (Barrel) "Blue Cohosh Rt * * * From Arthur Stallman & Co. New York."

Analysis of a sample of the article by the Bureau of Chemistry of this department showed that it consisted of blue cohosh with earthy matter. The yield of ash was 11.95 per cent. (The National Formulary requires that blue cohosh yield not more than 6 per cent of ash.)

Adulteration of the article was alleged in the libel for the reason that it was sold under and by a name recognized in the National Formulary and differed from the standard of strength, quality, and purity as determined by the test laid down in the National Formulary, official at the time of investigation, and its own standard of strength, quality, and purity was not plainly stated upon the containers thereof.

Misbranding of the article was alleged in the libel for the reason that the statement appearing on the said label, "Blue Cohosh," was false and misleading.

On or about March 12, 1923, no claimant having appeared for the property, judgment of condemnation and forfeiture was entered, and it was ordered by the court that the product be destroyed by the United States marshal.

11603. Misbranding of olive oil. U. S. v. 60 Cans of Olive Oil. Default decree of condemnation, forfeiture, and destruction. (F. & D. No. 17118. I. S. Nos. 2088-v, 2089-v, 2090-v. S. No. E-4262.)

On January 10, 1923, the United States attorney for the Western District of Pennsylvania, acting upon a report by the Secretary of Agriculture, filed in the District Court of the United States for said district a libel praying the seizure and condemnation of 60 cans of olive oil, consisting of 33 pint cans, 21 quart cans, and 6 half-gallon cans, remaining in the original unbroken packages at Pittsburgh, Pa., alleging that the article had been shipped by the Armenian Importing Co., from New York, N. Y., September 26, 1922, and transported from the State of New York into the State of Pennsylvania, and charging misbranding in violation of the Food and Drugs Act, as amended. The article was labeled in part: (Cans) "Prodotti Italiani Olio di Oliva Pure Olive Oil Sopraffino * * * Italia Brand Trade Mark Lucca Toscana Italia Net Conts. 1/8 Gall." (or "Net Conts. 1/4 Gall." or "Net Contents 1/2 Gall.").

Misbranding of the article was alleged in substance in the libel for the reason that the statements appearing on the labels of the cans containing the said article, to wit, "1/8 Gall.," "1/4 Gall.," and "1/2 Gall.," as the case might be, were false and misleading and deceived and misled the purchaser. Misbranding was alleged for the further reason that the article was food in package form, and the quantity of the contents was not plainly and conspicuously marked on the outside of the package.

On April 24, 1923, no claimant having appeared for the property, judgment of condemnation and forfeiture was entered, and it was ordered by the court that the product be destroyed by the United States marshal.

11604. Adulteration of dried figs. U. S. v. 32 Bags of Dried Figs. Default decree of condemnation, forfeiture, and destruction. (F. & D. No. 17339. I. S. No. 322-v. S. No. E-4324.)

On March 12, 1923, the United States attorney for the Southern District of New York, acting upon a report by the Secretary of Agriculture, filed in the District Court of the United States for said district a libel praying the seizure and condemnation of 32 bags of dried figs, remaining unsold in the original unbroken packages at New York, N. Y., alleging that the article had been shipped by D. H. Porter & Son, from San Francisco, Calif., on or about October 20, 1922, and transported from the State of California into the State of New York, and charging adulteration in violation of the Food and Drugs Act.

Adulteration of the article was alleged in the libel for the reason that it consisted in whole or in part of a filthy, decomposed, and putrid vegetable substance.
